Viennoiserie is perhaps the most recognized category of French pastry around the world, thanks to its flagship product, the CROISSANT.

The croissant is a staple of French cuisine and its light, fluffy dough is the foundation for many other viennoiseries. It’s usually included as a breakfast food, though a scrumptious croissant sandwich can be devoured any time of day.

PAstry
The introduction of sugar into European cookery resulted in a large variety of new pastry recipes in France, Italy, Spain and Switzerland. Originally, the French word pastisserie referred to anything, such as a meat pie, made in dough (Pâte Feuilletée) and not typically a luxurious or sweet product.
